Words that define a good leader:
Genuine, Caring, Vision and Clarity.

What is the most rewarding moment of your career to date?
Representing my country and its great attributes worldwide.

And the most challenging moment of your career?
Having to prove yourself permanently on most working environments to earn opportunities men have with lesser effort and break barriers so that new women generations don't have to do that.

Name one woman who inspires you and why?
Nathalie Baaklini: she is creative, carrying, warrior for her beliefs, positive, team player and a great leader.

Why did you decide to attend #WFMX17?
Because I want to contribute to the building of a new world that #MakesWomenhoodGreatAgain.

Did you attend Women's Forum Mexico in 2016? How did it impact you?
Through the encounter of a personal will with a community will where more than 800 women and men cared to create an economic, social, legal, corporate, human context where women are included, respected, dignified, and generating a permanent conversation which ends on solutions to break barriers.

What do you expect from Women's Forum Mexico 2017?

To build the next step after #WFMX16, so that the platform attracts women and men with a high (current or potential) quality of leadership in order to expand all attributes and tools and ways to facilitate for current and future generations the inclusion and benefit that come with gender equality.

What kind of leaders -or who- are you looking forward to meeting at #WFMX17?

Social NGO's leaders, corporate, sustainability.

A book or a film on leadership that you would like to recommend to your fellow delegates?

The Compassionate Achiever by Christopher Kukk.

What else do you want delegates to know about you?

I would like my peer delegates to know that I am a GenX social entrepreneur with the third millennial values, love of poetry, leadership and creative skills that resonate with the new world, that thrills about women's and generally humans evolution, that contributes to a better world, and that I consider myself a catalyst of human resilience.
